At the head of this week's bill of vaudeville at the Grand will be Frederick Hallen and Mollie Fuller, in a sketch by George M. Cohan, entitled "Election Bets." James T. Powers and his company will begin performances of "The Jewel of Asia," a comic opera by Harry B. Smith and Frederick Ranken, librettists, and Ludwig Englander, composer, in Boston, on Jan. 19. The principal members of Mr. Powers's company are William Cameron, Clifton Crawford, Pauline Chase, Helen Dupont, Rachael Booth and Eloise Morgan.

Both Henry Irving and Ellen Terry will visit this country next season, but they will not act together. Victorien Sardou's "Dante." in which Irving will be seen. contains no part suitable to Miss Terry, and she will lead her own company in another play. While Irving is playing in "Dante," which is ultra-modern in conception and execution, in New York, William Gillette will be playing "Hamlet" in a theater across the street from Irving's. Gilette, who has devoted his abilities to intricate melodrame, will be hardly less interesting in his "Hamlet" essay than will Irving in his impersonation of the great Italian poet.

Students of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts played Gerhart Hauptmann's "Lonely Lives," at the Empire Theater, New York, last week. It was the first performance of the play in this country. Criticism of the play indicated that it is by no means equal to the same writer's "The Weavers." The latter is a truly great dramatic poem and should be in the library of every person that wishes to keep in touch with modern movement. The English translation may be obtained through a local book store. Mr. Heinneman, of London, is the publisher. The play has been acted in this country, but not in English, at the Irving-place (German) Theater, New York.

STATE REFORMATORY WILL ASK FOR ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATION.

Gov. Durbin Has Indicated, However, that Only the Most Urgent Needs Will Be Considered.

NEEDS OF OTHER INSTITUTIONS

REQUESTS WHICH WILL BE MADE OF LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE.

Summary of Occupations of Legislators Prepared by Representative E. E. Mummert.

Senator Fremont Goodwine, of Williamsport, and Representative Henry W. Marshall, of Lafayette, members of the legislative committee on visiting state institutions, arrived in the city last evening to get ready to start early this morning for Jeffersonville to inspect the Indiana Reformatory. Representative Joseph M. Cravens, of Madison, the minority member of the committee, will join them at Jeffersonville. Governor Durbin will accompany Mr. Goodwine and Mr. Marshall from this city and will spend the day at the Reformatory, returning to-night or to-morrow morning, so as to be here to resume the hearing of ex-Sheriff Dudley, of Sullivan, at 10 o'clock

The committee will be met at Jeffersonville with some requests for a substantial increase in the appropriation for the maintenance of the Reformatory and for extra appropriations for various purposes. Among tution has indicated that a new water works system is needed at a cost of at least $10,000 and a new barn to cost $3,000 is also GOVERNOR'S ATTITUDE.

It is doubtful if the Reformatory will be given all that it wants at this session of the Legislature. Governor Durbin indicated to Charles E. Shiveley, the president of the new board of managers, a few weeks ago that the managers would do well to confine their requests to appropriations that are absolutely necessary and not to ask for all they wanted, as the institution has had over $300,000 for improvements in the past four years and there are some fifteen other state institutions that are entitled to recognition. In 1899 the State started to build a new cellhouse for the Reformatory that has proved to be a somewhat expensive affair. The sum of $200,000 was originally appropriated for the cellhouse, this sum to cover all the expenses, including the architect's fees for plans and specifications and for supervision. In 1901 the Legislature was forced to appropriate an additional $39,000 to cover a deficit in the cost of erecting the cellhouse and also to provide about $16,000 for the furnishings. Now it is said that Contractor McCormick, who built it, still claims that there is about $30,000 due him and the Legislature this winter may be asked to make that amount good. In addition to this the institution has been anticipating its income for several years, and in 1899 the Legislature made two appropriations, one to cover a deficit for the year 1898 and one to prevent a deficit for 1899. In 1901 the Legislature again made a specific appropriation for a similar purpose, the paragraph in the appropriation

1901 for bills of 1900 paid out of said fund of 1901, $1,408.08; said sums to be immediately available." It is not known whether similar specific appropriations will be neces-It is understood that the members of the board of managers will be at Jefferson ville to-day to assist the committee and the Governor in their work. John G. Williams, of this city, and President Shiveley, of Richmond, have indicated to the Governor their intention of being present at the time the visit to the Reformatory

COMMITTEE'S ITINERARY. If the work at the Reformatory is finished in time the committee will visit the State University at Bloomington Tuesday. If two days are required at Jeffersonville the committee will go to Bloomington Wednesday. The next institution to be visited will probably be the School for Feeble-minded Youths at Fort Wayne. Governor Durbin had desired to visit this institution with the committee, but he is compelled to go to Florida Thursday on legal business, and will not be able to go to Fort Wayne, The committee will be unable to finish its outside work this week and will have at least two institutions to visit next week. After that it will begin compiling its re-port, which must be finished before the

The appropriation bill for the state institutions will probably be considerably larger this year than those that have been passed at the last three or four sessions. Large specific appropriations will have to be made if the Women's Prison and Girls' Industrial School are separated, two new dormitories provided for the Blind Institute and the Deaf and Dumb School rebuilt on another tract of ground. It is practically settled that a strong effort will be made to make a change at the Women's Prison and the requests of the other two institutions are almost equally urgent. In addition to these Purdue University wants considerable attention. The management of the university has asked for a new heating plant, a new chemical laboratory and an addition to the present mechanical building, or a new building, and all this will entail an appropriation of more than $200,000. The increased cost of supplies of all kinds has made it necessary for increases of about 10 per cent. in the appropriations for maintenance of all the institutions and this is no insignificant item. Two years ago the Legislature appropriated $1,144,308 per annum for the maintenance of the several institutions and 10 per cent of this means an increase of over $114,000. Taking all this into consideration it is readily seen that

Interesting Study Made by Representative E. E. Mummert.

Representative E. E. Mummert, of Goshen, has made a summary of the membership of the next General Assembly as to occupations of legislators. The result shows that in the House there will be 33 lawyers, 24 farmers, 10 merchants, 6 physicians, 3 miners, 3 contractors, 2 millers, 2 preachers, 2 bankers and 1 each of the following: Editor, cigar maker, grain dealer, giass worker, teacher, civil engineer, machinist

In the Senate there will be 19 lawyers, 9 farmers, 4 bankers, 2 real-estate dealers, manufacturers, 2 editors, 3 physicians, 1 lodge organizer and 1 miner. There were only seventeen Republicans and nine Democrats who served in the last General Assembly re-elected. In the Senate only two were re-elected. There have been two deaths since the election-Senator C. C. Binkley, of Richmond, and Representative Aikman Carnahan, of Washing-

In the Senate there are only four senators who have participated in three previous sessions-Wood of Lafavette, Ball of Muncie. Gochenour, of North Manchester, and Goodwine, of Williamsport. In the House Representatives Marshall, of Lafavette. and Owen, of Rockville, are the senior members, this being their third session.

APPROVED AT MILWAUKEE.

Wisconsin Commission Passes Favorably on Columbia Voting Machine.

The Columbia voting machine, which is being manufactured by the Columbia Voting Machine Company at the new factory, 121 West Georgia street, has received the approval of the Wisconsin Voting Machine Commission. President J. M. Woods, of the company, has received a telegram from his Milwaukee agent notifying him that the machine has passed successfully every test to which it was submitted. The factory will commence operations today, all the necessary machinery having been put in place during the past week. It will give employment to seventy-five men at first, although President Woods states that the capacity will be greatly enlarged later on and new buildings erected. The telegram from the Milwaukee agen stated also that the City Council of Milwaukee is favorably considering an ordinance providing for the purchase of 100

An old salt by the name of Killin, who is with Lleutenant Blakely, and who dates back from the days of Fort Fisher, says that if sailors have flat feet they can walk in the water and run away. That is an old naval saw that has seen much hard service. Many who were examined had eye trouble or some other physical imperfection that barred them from being sailors. Lieutenant Blakely expected to get more than ten men, but the recruiting party that was here before him practically cleaned up the field. The possible diminution of the military frenzy may have something to do with the failure of more to come forward, he thinks. The lieutenant and his men now go on leave until Jan. 1, when they will be de-tailed for the same service at St. Louis.

MEET TO-NIGHT TO ELECT PRESIDING OFFICER.

W. A. Rhodes and J. E. Billingsly Leading Candidates for the Honor -Pesthouse Ordinance.

The Republican members of the City Council will meet to-night at the clerk's office to select a new president of the Council. The only names to be presented to the Council are those of Vice President W. A. Rhodes and Councilman Billingsley. Speculation on the outcome of the caucus is general. Mr. Billingsley's friends believe that the choice rests with W. P. Spray, the new member elected last Thursday night to succeed H. M. Haldeman. He is from Billingsley's ward-the Second. Mr. Rhode's friends figure that this will have the opposite effect, because the ward has now four members of the elected from the ward, Cooper, Wheeler and Spray, councilmen-at-large. They figure the Second ward well supplied. Some of Mr. Billingsley's friends predict that his election means the reappointment of all the standing committees. His opponents say this is an illusion, as the rules will not admit of this revolutionary action.

The Republican membership in the Council is thirteen. Six are said to be for Mr. Rhodes and six for Mr. Billingsley. Last night neither side would tell how Mr. Spray, the new member, would vote, but Billingsley's friends were counting him. because Mr. Wheeler, who secured Spray's election, is counted with the Billingsley supporters.

PESTHOUSE MEASURE. The Council will be asked to act on the amendment of the pesthouse appropriation ordinance to-night. An ordinance amending the one passed last July will be introduced It will eliminate the provision requiring the land to be purchased to be three-fourths of a mile from the city. To pass this ordinance the rules will have to be suspended or another meeting called for Tuesday night. A communication from the Board of Health, setting out the smallpox situation, will be read to acquaint the members of the Council with the necessities of the health department. There is little doubt of the passage of the ordinance, as the judiciary committee, to which the communication of the Board of Public Works was referred last Monday night, will report inability to offer a report. The judiciary committee may report favorably on Councilman Billingsley's ordinance requiring the inspection of gas meters by the city engineer. The report proposed by Chairman Negley, of the committee, will favor amending the ordinance so as to strike out the requirement that the meters must be detached and taken to the engineer's office and substituting a provision that they may be tested at the point The committee on contracts and franchises will report favorably on the franchise granted John E. Christian to furnish heat and electric light in the block bounded by Walnut, St. Clair, New Jersey and Alabama streets.

BABE DIED FROM SMALLPOX.

Infant of Cora Woods Contracted

Disease Before Birth. The two-weeks-old baby of Cora Woods died yesterday at the City Hospital from smallpox. The mother of the infant died from the same disease last Monday. When it was learned that the mother had smallpox the baby was vaccinated seventy-eight hours after its birth. The child could not be protected from the malady, as it had contracted the disease before its birth. It lingered until yesterday afternoon, when it died. Cora Woods, the mother of the child, became afflicted with smallpox sitting at a window in the hospital which opened out on the grounds where the pesthouse is located. It is thought that the

ADDRESSES BY A. L. MASON AND DR. GEORGE E. HUNT.

An Audience at the Y. M. C. A. Informed How Honest Government May Be Brought About.

Two hundred attended the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. The services were arranged to excite interest in Christian citizenship. Addresses were delivered by Augustus Lynch Mason and Dr. George E. Hunt, secretary of the Commercial Club. The Bible lesson, read by Secretary Neighbors, of the Y. M. C. A., was Elijah's retreat to the cave from the worshipers of Baal who sought his life. He found not the voice of God in the wind, nor the earthquake, nor the fire, but in the still small voice that commanded him to contract with the United States Company. | annoint Jehu. Mr. Neighbors said this lesson taught that God accomplishes his reforms through more powerful agencies than earthquakes and storms-through the voice of conscience.

> Among those who were drawn to the meeting were Police Judge Stubbs, Chairman Newlin, of the Prohibition State committee, Lucius B. Swift and the Rev. Joshua

The address of Mr. Mason was short, but illuminating as to the theory on which the league will be constructed. City government, he said, was the plague spot of America. The exposures of the Tweed ring, the Lexow commission, the Philadelphia gas ring, the Chicago boodlers and the St. Louis corruptionists he cited to sustain the fact that the larger municipalities get the more temptation for corruption, the more offices are sought by dishonest men. He had gladly joined with the spirit of Colonel other cause. The city government had three important functions that should be vigilantly protected-the collection of taxes and improvethe enforcement of law and the making of quasi-public contracts. In the performance of the first-named discrimination after the adoption of specifications for public works would enrich contractors and officials at public cost; in the second the granting of franchises that operated to pay large divithe third the lax enforcement of the police powers due to a weak official or powerful personal or political considerations.

Mr. Mason said he was not opposed to political machines per se, but when they did not put up good men they should be opposed. There are many good men in the What he believed was practical was to cast aside party affiliation in municipal elections and vote for the best men; to men if in no other way than by defeating their bad candidates. There was a large independent element in Indianapolis that would support such a movement as the league proposed so long as it was organized in the interest of common honesty and common decency

LEAGUE'S PRACTICAL WORK. Dr. Hunt, in his address, dealt with the practical work of the Chicago Municipal Voters' League, which had been so successful that the corrupt city legislature has been overthrown and now two-thirds of the seventy members are known to be honest men. The league operates through an executive committee, maintains offices all the year and receives advice from every precinct in each ward. So powerful has its influence become that the parties of Chicago now consult it with reference to the selection of candidates, well knowing that its campaigns against unfit candidates are likely to be effective. The only known members of the Citizens' League here will this executive committee. The league will investigate the records of all candidates and impartially report the facts for the voters. MUSIC.

Mr. Pugno's Recital To-Night,

Raoul Pugno, a distinguished French planist, will be heard in this city for the first time this evening at the German House. Seats may be purchased to-day at Baldwin's. Mr. Pugno's programme is of extraordinary importance, containing a prelude and fugue by Bach, a sonata by Scarlatti, the G sharp minor sonata of Beethoven, a Weber rondo brilliant, a scherzo, polonaise, waltz and nocturne by Chopin and compositions by Schumann, Liszt, Grieg, Handel and Pugno, Mr. Finck, of the New York Evening Post, gave the following informing criticism of Mr. Pugno's playing in New York last week: "The American public behaves most reprehensibly in regard to concert planists. Having ascertained that Paderewski is the best living player, it ignores other planists, which is very stupid, for the great Pole is by no means the only high-class artist in his field. Once in a while an exception is made, and it is pleasant to record the fact that one of these exceptions is the Franco-Italian Raoul Pugno. At his second recital yesterday atternoon Mendelssohn Hall held a big audience, and there was so much applause that the planist might have repeated half of his pieces; but he frowns on encores and will have none of them. "He began with Bach-the fascinating Gigue from the first Partita-and ended with Liszt's eleventh rhapsody. The Bach piece was played with delightful clearness and expression. In playing Bach M. Pugno uses the sustaining pedal as much as in playing Chopin, and rightly so. It is not merely a question of prolonging tones and mingling harmonies, but of enriching all the tones by the sympathetic sounding of overtones. Those who believe in playing Bach without the pedal are his worst enemies. The old Cantor himself would have given them a piece of his mind, for he loved rich effects and tone coloring. "Beside Bach there were two other old masters on the programme-Handel and Scarlatti, followed by Beethoven, who is at the threshold of modern music and whom M. Pugno fortunately does not play academically. Chopin had the lion's shareseven numbers, and all of them were played entertainingly and commendably, although the rubato was not always strictly Polish and some of the accents were questionable The Liszt rharsody, as played by M. Pugno was a whirlwind of sound, exciting as a gypsy czardas. PARTY LINE AMENITIES.

A Young Man Has Trouble in Using a Telpehone.

A very busy young man had occasion last evening to use the telephone in the office in which he is employed and with the assistance of the telephone he hoped to connect with a much-wanted person. The accommodating exchange girl made the connection asked for, seemingly without knowing the condition of the line wanted, which happens to be one known as a party line. The result was that the anxious young man was thrust into a conversation between any number of young ladies, and the struggling efforts of a graphophone to compete with them and get in the proverbial word edgewise. The graphophone was busy grinding out between jerks and catches and slides like an iron file across the edge of a knife "O Mr. Dooley-ooleyooley-oo," when the young man interrupted

"Who are you? Get out of there. Oh, girls! Well, what do you think of that? This line's busy Shut up! Can't you let us alone? Listen now. O do hush!" and a score more of remarks equally appropriate and more or less suggestive that his presence was not wanted caused the young man to hang up the receiver and ask the nice girl at the telephone exchange not to bother the young ladies until the graphophone had ground out the rest of its song.

100,000 Private Cars.

New York Tribune of private cars, in comparison with the total amount of rolling stock of the railures, however, tell a different story. J. W. McCall, railroad man of Baltimore, spoke about it yesterday at the Imperial. "Some time ago," he said, "some one figured out how many private cars there were in operation. He found that there were over 100,000 cars belonging to other than railroad corporations in America. This involves an annual expenditure of $10,000,000 for mileage. These private lines are a drain on railway income, but no single line can afford to refuse to haul them. Some months ago the Southern Pacific gave notice it would not use private fruit cars, but it rescinded the order. All big provision, fruit and grain companies have lines of rolling stock that would equip a moderate-sized rail-

The "Omega"

Odorless Gas Stove

Marks a revoluton in gas heating and household sanitation. Perfect combustion is secured by the generation of intense heat and the thorough mixing progressively of the gas supply with air, by which it is possible to use at least forty-five cubic feet of air to every cubic foot of gas. Its operation combines three important and indespensable factors-economy in fuel, perfect combustion, sterilization. In the 'OMEGA" they are the result of mechancal combinations produced as the result of extensive scientific research.
